Reno, Nevada

President of the Nevada State University

Dear Sir:

At a conference held at Virginia City on the above mentioned date in which Messers. Ross and Dye, Professors Wrinkle and Young took part and the following was decided upon:

For a perfect knowledge of the practical work of Mining, such as prospecting, opening up a mine, timbering, blasting and extraction, etc., the candidate will be allowed 40% credit, but must reach at least 28% to have such percentage counted at all. The examination for Practical Mining to be carried on by such persons constituting an Advisory Committee of honorary members of the Comstock Class of University Extension as may be appointed by the President of the Nevada State University.

The remaining 60% after assigning 40% of 100 credits to a perfect knowledge of Practical Mining shall be assigned as follows:

20% to surveying

20% to assaying

20% to metallurgy

As regards those students of classes of University Extension who desire to obtain other degrees than that of Mining Engineer, they may at stated times present themselves for examination at Reno in the subjects required in the respective courses they desire to study. Such persons may enter into correspondence with the President of the University, respecting their particular cases.

In surveying the candidate for Certificate of Mining Engineer who shall make an actual Survey, with a transit of a ten-sided tract on the surface and a map of the same, neatly executed and lettered, closing within the limits recognized for good work and calculating the area of the same, will be allowed 20% for a perfect execution of such work. But if a candidate makes less than 14% in such work, he will not have such percentage counted at all in the 60% assigned for proficiency in Surveying, Assaying and Metallurgy. The percentage obtained will be determined by tests above mentioned, subject to approval and examination by such person or persons as may be designated by the President of the University.

Assaying to be given 20 credits out of 60. Candidate is required to pass a satisfactory examination in the assaying of gold and silver ores and a supplement large examination in the assaying of copper, zinc, lead, antimony and tin ores.

A proficiency of 14 credits out of 20 credits must be reached.

The examination will consist in the assaying of a number of different ores.

Metallurgy to be given 20 credits out of 60. The candidate is required to pass a satisfactory examination in the outlines of General Metallurgy and should show a good general knowledge of the following subjects: Milling, Amalgamation and Concentration of gold and silver ores, the Chlorination Cyanide and other leaching processes, Smelting of gold, silver, copper and lead ores.

Special attention being given in each School to the predominant metallurgical practice of each camp.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Geo. J. Young

/s/ L. F. J. Wrinkle

/s/ G. Mc M. Ross
