1. Agenda Item Title: UNLV Repositioning in Asia
   Meeting Date: December 5-6, 2013

2. BACKGROUND & POLICY CONTEXT OF ISSUE:

   UNLV’s Singapore campus was established in 2006 as part of Singapore’s “Global School House” initiative, whereby top foreign universities were invited to Singapore to provide tertiary educational services in their respective fields of distinction. Although the initiative was originally intended to make Singapore a hub for international education, current efforts by the Economic Development Board and Ministry of Education have been largely repositioned to provide education for, and workforce development of, Singaporean citizens and - to some extent - Permanent Residents of the Republic.

   The Board’s approval of the Singapore campus was conditioned on the mandate that no state or institutional funds may be expended on it. Therefore, the campus is reliant on tuition and fees derived mainly from undergraduate education, but revenue also comes from non-credit certificate programs and has been raised in the past through graduate student tuition and fees.

   The campus currently has about 650 students, 271 B.S. degrees have been awarded there, as well as 50 M.H.A. degrees. The current student body is almost entirely Singaporean, however ten full tuition and fees scholarships have been made available to UNLV main campus students for the last several semesters. Instruction is provided by six locally hired faculty members in residence (mostly with UNLV connections), augmented by on-line instruction from the main campus, traveling faculty from Las Vegas for summer sessions, and local part time instructors. The campus has approximately 12 other staff members, all local hires, except the Associate Dean/Managing Director, who is a UNLV employee funded by the Singapore entity.

3. SPECIFIC ACTIONS BEING RECOMMENDED OR REQUESTED:

   Information only- UNLV has been in preliminary discussions with certain entities concerning relocating and/or expanding its academic activities in Singapore to Korea and/or China, also on a non-exclusive and self-supporting basis. The university may be in a position to bring at least one concrete proposal in this regard forward to the Board in Mid-2014.

   A. KOREA: UNLV recently executed a non-binding Memorandum of Mutual Interest with the Incheon Free Economic Zone Authority and the Songdo Global University Foundation relative to a potential facility for the Hotel College outside Seoul, South Korea. It is anticipated that UNLV will next enter into a Due Diligence Agreement with the same parties, whereby they will provide $1 Million to the university for it to determine the feasibility and desirability of joining other U.S. and international tertiary institutions at the Songdo campus to provide a “3+1, Korea + Las Vegas” undergraduate Hotel College program. In no case will UNLV be liable to repay such funds. At the conclusion of the due diligence period, an Affiliation Agreement would be brought forward to the Board for approval, if UNLV concludes that establishing a program there is beneficial.

   B. CHINA: At least two locations in China have been identified that could provide desirable locations for the Board to approve scholarly activities by UNLV entities, beginning with the Hotel College. For various reasons, conducting academics in China may be more challenging than in Korea. Currently, it is believed that activities in China would probably be less intensive (perhaps “2+2” articulations with the first half provided by a Chinese partner institution, monitored and assisted by one or more UNLV instructors, and the second half in Las Vegas), and that operating such UNLV China Centers, even without enrolling students in UNLV at them, might not be feasible without a management base in Singapore or Korea.
C. SINGAPORE: While the current full degree program for polytechnic diploma holders is slated to be discontinued, it is possible that governmental and/or other entities in Singapore may wish to retain a presence of UNLV that allows a sufficient range of teaching, research and service and drives students to the main campus for at least a year. Any such opportunity would need to meet the same levels of tuition/fees and initial subsidies available at other locations, and might involve location(s) outside of Singapore proper. Of course, establishing new locations in or around the Republic would likewise require approval of the Board at a future date.

4. IMPETUS (WHY NOW?):

A. UNLV’s agreement with the Singapore Institute of Technology (“SIT”) to provide the second two years of the Hotel College B.S. (Hospitality Management major) at UNLV’s branch campus in Singapore at a set, discounted rate of tuition to graduates of local Polytechnic institutions - paid in bulk by SIT based on contractually guaranteed enrollments - expires at the end of 2015.

B. The lease on facilities at the Singapore National Library Building also expires at the end of calendar year 2015.

C. The start-up loan made by the Singapore Economic Development Board (“EDB”) to UNLV Singapore Limited (a registered Singapore charity created pursuant to resolution of the Board of Regents) is scheduled to be paid in full in January, 2016.

D. All students currently enrolled in the full degree program in Singapore are scheduled to graduate by mid-2015. Several international students have enrolled with the explicit expectation of completing the last half of their degrees thereafter on the main campus.
